Printmaker of the Year 2018: ~ Gail Brodholt

Gail Brodholt is a leading painter and printmaker of contemporary urban landscapes. She is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Painter-Printmakers (RE), where she currently holds the post of Honorary Curator. She has a degree in Fine Art (Painting) from Kingston University. She has exhibited widely and is the recipient of many prizes for printmaking. Gail finds that working in one medium informs and enhances the other. She has published two lithographs in collaboration with the Curwen Studio. She works from her purpose built printmaking studio in south London and has recently been the subject of a book by Mascot Media on her work.

Gail says of her practice "Travel is a wonderful and transformative aspect of modern life. To be able to jump on a train or in a car and go anywhere on the spur of the moment is a tremendous gift – especially for artists!"
